DIARY NOTES

DD/S WJ

10 March 1964

1. At the Executive Committee Meeting this morning General Carter said that he had received a memorandum from the Director charging him with the responsibility for ensuring that any correspondence coming into the Agency addressed to the Director either personally or as the Director of Central Intelligence must be acknowledged within 48 hours and that, unless the reply and the acknowledgment were one and the same, the reply must go out within five days. (I have passed this on to all DD/S Office Heads. If taken literally, this directive would create a great deal of trouble for everybody, including the Director's office. I called this fact to General Carter's attention. He agreed with me and, as I understand it, will take this up with the Director when he returns from Saigon.)

2. [REDACTED], Gates Lloyd, and I met with [REDACTED]. We didn't learn anything new from him; however, I was surprised to learn that he anticipated that [REDACTED] and the Communications radio relay station would be able to return to normal operations in due time. He thought that it would be highly desirable for the [REDACTED] inter-

3. I briefed [REDACTED] and John Bross's new Deputy, Major General [REDACTED] on the Support organization. [REDACTED] will want more detailed briefings on some of our offices, particularly the Offices of Training and Communications. I said that I would announce this at my staff meeting; then they could make arrangements directly with the various DD/S offices. (I asked Matt Baird to invite [REDACTED] down [REDACTED] and to arrange for a detailed briefing on the Office of Training while they are there.)
